

Sunday Dispatch — Archive Sampler

A small sampler of essays from the Sunday Dispatch.

On waiting for permission

Nobody is coming. The room you're waiting to be invited into doesn't exist. Build the door.

On selling

Selling is just clarity about who you help and a willingness to ask for the trade.

On the long game

Compounding looks like nothing for years, then everything at once. Don't quit in year two.
